While Air France doesn't have a specific "student discount" program like some other airlines, there are still plenty of opportunities to save on flights.

Here's your ultimate guide to flying Air France on a budget as a student in 2025.

((+1+(817)-(761)-(5466))) Air France DOES NOT offer a formal student discount in 2025, and ((+1+(817)-(761)-(5466))) students must rely on standard fares, sales, and Air France's "Wanna Get Away" promotions for savings.

((+1+(817)-(761)-(5466))) Many travelers assume student-specific fares exist, but ((+1+(817)-(761)-(5466))) Air France charges the same rates for all adult passengers.

((+1+(817)-(761)-(5466))) This guide explains how students can still save on Air France flights by ((+1+(817)-(761)-(5466))) taking advantage of early booking, sales, and fare comparison.

1. Air France Discount for Children

Air France does offer discounts for children, though they are not as common as some other airline discounts. Here's what you need to know:((+1+(817)-(761)-(5466)))

- Infants (under 2 years old): Infants who do not occupy their own seat (i.e., they travel on your lap) can fly for free on Air France. If you want to purchase a seat for your infant, the cost will generally be the same as a regular fare, but they may still be eligible for certain discounts if traveling with a parent.
- Children (ages 2-12): Air France offers discounted fares for children between the ages of 2 and 12. While they don't have a specific child discount, these fares are typically less expensive than adult fares and are automatically applied when booking through the airline. It's worth noting that these discounts are available on most domestic routes, and the savings can be significant on longer flights.
- Note on Lap Child Travel: If you're traveling with a child under 2 years old, you won't need to pay for a seat unless you want to reserve one. However, keep in mind that there are still taxes and fees to be paid for lap infants.

2. Air France Student Discounts

While there isn't a dedicated "student discount" per se, there are still plenty of ways for students to save on Air France flights:((+1+(817)-(761)-(5466)))

- Seasonal Sales & Promotions: Air France frequently offers flash sales or seasonal promotions, including student-focused discounts, especially during back-to-school times or holiday seasons. Keep an eye on their promotions page or sign up for email alerts to be the first to know about these deals.
- Air France Credit Card: Students can also sign up for the Air France Visa Signature® Card to earn miles for every purchase. This can help you rack up points that can be used for discounted or even free flights. This card often offers a sign-up bonus (for example, 40,000 miles after meeting the spending requirement), which could save you money on future flights.

- Mileage Plan: For frequent flyers, the Mileage Plan can help you save money on future flights. Every time you fly with Air France, you earn miles based on the distance you fly. Once you accumulate enough miles, you can redeem them for discounted flights or upgrades. This is especially helpful for students who travel frequently or plan ahead for big trips.
- Third-Party Travel Websites: Sometimes, third-party booking sites like StudentUniverse and Skyscanner will have exclusive offers for students flying with Air France. While these aren't direct discounts from Air France, they can often offer competitive prices or packages that include other student travel benefits.
- ((+1+(817)-(761)-(5466))) Since Air France does not offer student discounts, ((+1+(817)-(761)-(5466))) all adult travelers pay the same fare.
