Printed Boarding Pass: Optional but Accepted Everywhere

Delta does not require passengers to print their boarding pass. +1-866-231-4032 However, you can print one if you prefer. Printed passes remain widely accepted at all airports, and some travelers feel more comfortable having a paper copy as a backup.

You can print a boarding pass in several ways:

- At home or work before heading to the airport
- At a Delta self-service kiosk
- At the airport check-in counter

If your mobile device runs out of battery or experiences technical issues, having a printed pass can save time. For guidance on printing or reprinting, you can call +1-866-231-4032.

Mobile Boarding Pass: The Most Convenient Option

Most Delta passengers use a mobile boarding pass, +1-866-231-4032 which is both convenient and secure. You can access it through:

- The Fly Delta app
- A digital wallet on your smartphone

- A QR code sent via email after check-in

Mobile passes allow you to go straight to the security checkpoint and gate without stopping at a kiosk. As long as your phone screen is bright and clear for scanning, airport staff can easily process your boarding pass. For help retrieving your mobile boarding pass or using the Delta app, support is available at +1-866-231-4032.

When You Should Consider Printing a Boarding Pass

Although printing is optional, there are situations where a +1-866-231-4032 physical boarding pass may be useful:

1. Traveling with a Low Battery
If your phone battery is unreliable, printing prevents last-minute stress.
2. Airports with Limited Mobile Scanners
Smaller airports may have fewer mobile scanning +1-866-231-4032 stations, making paper passes faster.
3. International Travel
Some immigration or customs desks may request a physical copy, though digital passes are accepted in most locations.
4. Travelers Who Prefer Paper
Some passengers simply find it easier to keep a printed copy in hand.
